

LITTLE SERMONETTES

BY THE PASTOR.

"Because I live ye shall live also." I come this morning with a cup of blessing and I wish to place this cup to the lips of every reader of The Tribune.

It is a cup destined for every son and daughter of Adam who is willing to take it. It is ample in its provisions for the complete joy of each and of all. He who had the power to lay down his life and the power to take it again has the power to give life to whomsoever he will; and he wills to give unto all whom will take it.

When the sun shines bright and the home is comfortable, and the members of the home are all in good health, and there is no vision of the hearse coming to the door, we feel little need of a comforting potion. But these things do not always last; the sun does not always shine; the home is not always comfortable; the members of the home are not always in health, and there are frequent visions of the hearse which we cannot dispel. I am aware that this is not the most pleasing subject for those of you who are basking, at this time, in the sunshine of comfort and pleasure; but of this one thing I am aware also that there are but few who read this sermonette who are not under the cloud or have been under it, and those who are free from the shadows at the present time are hastening on toward the valley of the shadows. And it should be the principle in the life of everyone to dispense his or her blessings every day so that they may be in store whenever they are needed.

The darkest shadow that was ever cast over this already darkened world was the shadow of the cross. And as the disciples of our Lord began to enter this shadow, no wonder their hearts were troubled; and it seemed at first like mockery for the Master to say unto them: "Let not your hearts be troubled." And the burden of sorrow was not much lightened when He told them of mansions above in our Father's house, nor even when he said: "Because I live ye shall live also." For they saw Him moving right on into the thickening shadows until He was lost to their view in the cold embrace of death, and enshrouded in the tomb. And it was not until the morning of the third day that the clouds began to lift, and the shadows flew away, and when they saw the empty tomb and the living Christ and heard His voice as He saluted them, "All hail," the glorious light of the resurrection burst upon them and they realized the import of His words, "Let not your hearts be troubled," "Because I live ye shall live also."

Then, what is this cup of blessing and what does it all mean to us? While it is not true that all that a man has will be given for his life, yet it is true that life is a most valuable and a most desirable possession. And so desirable is life that there are but few people who would not part with houses, and lands, and money, to keep it, or even to lengthen it. And yet the fact remains that neither money nor other earthly property, and not even our dearest earthly friends, can preserve our life to us. Death is master over all of these and laughs the latter to scorn. And if we cannot secure a stronger ally than money, or houses, or lands, or earthly friends, all hope is gone, and "we are of all men most miserable."

"If thou knewest the gift of God, and who it is that saith to thee, give me to drink, thou wouldst have asked of him, and he would have given thee the living water." "Whoever drinketh of the water that I shall give him shall never thirst; but the water that I shall give shall be in him a well of water springing up into everlasting life." This is the cup of blessing which we offer to you this morning: Life, life, life.

And what does life mean? It means union with the Infinite; it means extended vision; seeing through the mists, looking beyond the shadows; it means the enlargement of the field of opportunity, the bounds of which are not circumscribed by time; it means the expanding of energy commensurate with the field of opportunity presented; it means the removal of the time limit; and that death is only the gateway to eternity. But more than any or all of these, life means service. He who is life, "came not to be ministered unto but to minister." Life is a gift, freely bestowed on all who will accept it; but service is rewarded. There are no rewards with the mere possession of life, but whoever serves is remembered with a just compensation. "He serves God well who serves his fellowmen; but he serves best who serves both him and them."

"This is life eternal, that they might know thee the only true God and Jesus Christ, whom thou hast sent." He who has done so much for us is entitled to our praise; he who holds our destiny in his hands demands our worship; he who gave himself for us is worthy of our love; he who gives us life has a right to our service; and none of these can we afford to withhold from him. The people everywhere are in constant need, and we who have cannot honor God and withhold when we have the ability to help.

"Because I live ye shall live also." It is not because Jesus Christ was born of a virgin; it is not because he was able to turn water into wine; it is not because he spoke as never man spake; it is not because he stilled the tempest or walked upon the sea; it is not because he cast out devils from the unfortunates; it is not because he raised Lazarus from the dead; it is not because he was betrayed and crucified; it is not because of any of these or all of them together that we shall live, but because he "lives." And if he lives it is because he conquered death and overcame the power of Satan. No greater reason for our life could be advanced than that Christ lives; and that he lives is proof that he is able to save us unto the uttermost. "Thanks be to God who giveth us the victory through our Lord Jesus Christ." The sting of death is taken away because he has removed our sins from us and made his partakers of the divine nature. The grave is robbed of its victory because the Christ has passed through it and has come forth again. When death has done his worst to them who are without sin, he cannot separate them from the "love of God which is in Christ Jesus our Lord." And it makes no difference how heavy the stone that is placed at the door of the sepulchre, nor how securely the tomb is locked and sealed, "all who are in their graves shall come forth, they that have done good unto the resurrection of life, and they that have done evil unto the resurrection of damnation." "Because I live ye shall live also."

Coonville Observations

I vobserb dat all de assets some coons had and some white folks, too, fo' dat matter—am a good, strong appetite fo' booze.

Dat it am a mighty po' 'ligion what don't pervide a kennel fo' de dog.

Dat de boy or de gal what can be absolutely trusted at home am allus de safes' one ter trust' away from home.

Dat de s'isty folks ob Coonville don't do nuffin these days but stan' round de sto' windows a lookin' at de hats and de gowns.

Dat dey is lots of cullahed ladies, and some white ladies, what jes go from sto' to sto', jes a lookin', an a lookin', an a lookin', an a lan—

Dat dey is mo' profit in 'bein'' a prophet dan dey is in 'habin'' a prophet.

Dat de divorce court always hunts fo' de fool marriages, and hit find 'em, too.

Dat dey is mo' people lib below de waist dan above de collar.

Dat yo' neber can tell how much dirt dey is on a pickaninny's hands, and dat is de reason dat de mammy is allus happy.

Dat mos' people could keep dey religion longer if dey would only pre-serb it.

Dat no real honest niggah ober stan' and look ober into he neighbo's chicken coop.

Dat de bes' way to keep from stealin' is jes to be satisfied wid what is yo' own.

Dat de bes' way to keep up de honey-moon am jes to imagine chery day dat yo' is a goin' to see yo' bes' gal dat night.

Dat love in a hovel ain't no' dan half as nice as it seem when yo' read about it.

HIDDEN DANGERS

Nature Gives Timely Warnings That No Salt Lake City Citizen Can Afford to Ignore.

DANGER SIGNAL NO. 1 comes from the kidney secretions. They will warn you when the kidneys are sick. Well kidneys excrete a clear, amber fluid. Sick kidneys send out a thin, pale and foamy, or a thick, red, ill-smelling urine, full of sediment and irregular of passage.

DANGER SIGNAL NO. 2 comes from the back. Back pains, dull and heavy, or sharp and acute, tell you of sick kidneys and warn you of the approach of dropsy, diabetes and Bright's disease. Doan's Kidney Pills cure sick kidneys and cure them permanently. Here's Salt Lake City proof:

Mrs. M. J. Stevens, living at 1217 West Third South Street, Salt Lake City, Utah, says: "I have been over thirty years I suffered from kidney complaint, and there have been times when I really thought that I would have to give up. My back ached almost constantly, the secretions were irregular in action, and I suffered from headaches, being often so dizzy that I could not attend to my household duties. A last I learned of Doan's Kidney Pills and procured a box at F. J. Hill's drug store. I am now feeling better than I have in a long time, and trust that others may learn of the curative powers of Doan's Kidney Pills through my endorsement. For sale by all dealers. Price 50 cents. Foster-McMillan Co., Buffalo, New York, sole agents for the United States. Remember the name—Doan's—and take no other."

The telephone rings, we get your order and the coal, carefully selected, is soon on the way.
